Product Lifecycle – Letter No. 19/10 EM DG SA&P Announcement of product phase-out and cancellation

By this letter we inform you about the schedule regarding phase-out of the products listed below.

During the phase-out period starting now these products are still available until the date of product cancellation as stated below. However, these products should not be used for new substation projects during this phase.

Typically, repair service is provided for a 10 years period after the date of phase-out announcement.

For software products the date of product cancellation is identical with the end of product lifecycle.
